

3 Attributes of Building an Impactful Team

Bishop Vernon Spinks

Diocesan Bishop – Atlantic Regional Conference (ARC)

Impactful Leaders Build Impactful Teams

Motivate and Inspire!

Team Building – What is it?

Team building is the action or process of causing a group of people to work together effectively as a team to accomplish a unified goal. Teamwork is essential in our families, social settings, and in our church/ministry.

- It is the process of strengthening bonds between a group.
- Team building can be accomplished through various group activities.
- Team building is an ongoing process.
- Through team building, members will discover that successful teamwork can be more productive than the work of an individual contributor.

Impactful Leaders Build Impactful Teams!

An impactful leader is one who motivates and inspires their team to operate at their full capacity to reach a common goal. It is the leader's responsibility to build an effective successful team.

Impactful leaders can build impactful teams by

- having a clear vision and plan;
- building trust through strong relationships, and;
- by encouraging a spirit of unity and all-inclusiveness within the team.

Write the Vision

See the bigger picture!

Impactful Leaders Have Vision for the Team

The Law of the Big Picture – John C. Maxwell

When individuals become part of a team, they realize that they must lay aside their personal ambitions to help achieve the larger goal (the vision) of the team. The vision is the foundation that will call for all hands-on deck!

An impactful leader will build an impactful team by giving clarity to the vision and showing the team how they are instrumental to achieving the team goal.

- Without vision, the people will perish (Prov. 29:18).
- As leaders, we must be able to give clarity to the vision (Hab. 2:2-3).

Build Trust!

Promote Accountability!

Impactful Leaders Build Trust

The Law of Accountability – John C. Maxwell

Team members must rely on one another and be accountable to the team. Impactful leaders create impactful teams by building accountability through trust.

- Building trust (relationships) between the leader and the team let's them know they can rely upon you.
- Building a bond between team members makes them accountable to the success of the team.
- The team will be able to help bare the burden of one another (Gal. 6:2).

Unity!

Together we are one!

Impactful Leaders Promote Unity Through Teamwork

The Law of the Niche – John C. Maxwell

Every person on the team has unique strengths that are beneficial to the team. Impactful leaders understand that every person has specific skills that will contribute to the success of the team.

- We are ONE body with different gifts that are necessary for the work (Rom. 12:3-9).
- The whole body is fitly joined together (Eph. 4:16).

“I need you. You need me. WE need EACHOTHER!”

Thank You

John C. Maxwell